Scottish & Southern Energy	Martin Brandt	29/05/09	Reject	Yes	Scottish and Southern Energy reject the solution as currently put forward. Although we could possibly meet the suggested August implementation date we would prefer it to go into the November release and would like to understand why it so business critical for it not to go into a scheduled release date.	The timescales required to complete the necessary system changes to support COR1353 allow for the Supporting Information file to be delivered from August. This implementation date is also driven by the need to implement an end to end automated process to reduce the manual effort currently required by all involved parties. Issuing the Supporting Information file via the IX will also reduce the volume of information that is received by shippers via email. If a November release is preferred, then the existing adhoc arrangements for delivering email files will be utilised to deliver the Supporting Information file format until November.
