Dear Dennis

Re: Entry Capacity Baselines Questions Arising from UNC Transmission
Workstream discussion 1st February 2007

This letter follows up my letter of 2nd March 2007. In that letter, which provided a response to questions from the transmission workstream following the meeting on 1st February, I indicated that due to resource constraints Ofgem had not been able to prepare a copy of the model used in setting baselines that excluded any commercially sensitive material. I also indicated that Ofgem would be working to produce such a version of the model.

Ofgem has now completed this work and with this email I attach a copy of the model (in Microsoft Excel format).

I would be grateful if you could arrange to have it brought to the attention of the parties who raised the questions and would recommend that it be placed on the joint office website alongside Ofgem's responses to the other questions from this meeting.

Yours sincerely,
